Increasing Intensity

"This May Be Too Intense for Young Viewers" regularly comes on the screen of my TV.

There doesn't seem to be much that is left that viewers are not permitted to see.

I have always known that lions and tigers regularly feast on antelope and deer but watching them kill and devour one still is not something which brings me cheer.

I'm old enough to recall when 'Pregnant' wasn't a word you were allowed to say.

Now on Prime Time regular TV channels you can just about see how they got that way.

Congressional Debates should probably have an "Intensity Warning" these days. The way they often tear into each other looks like animal planet in many ways.

My husband will very often say to me: "You will not be able to handle this!"
There seems to be less and less shown today that I would not simply prefer to miss.

More and more, Movies have done the same thing. I see a title and know it's the same way. For me to sit through anything like that the Movie Folks would have to GIVE ME PAY!

What does it say for our society that we feast on this diet of grim and gloom? I also wonder when "Warnings" come on, if OLD LADIES ARE THE ONLY ONES LEAVING THE ROOM!!! Robbie J. Huffman©

Dear FCC:

I understand you are asking for public comment on lowering the FCC standards on TV.

I didn't know the standards could get much lower.

It should tell TV folks something that so many of us watch 40-50 yr old reruns.

I am against it. I'm also enclosing something I wrote on this subject.

Hoffman

Yours truly,

Dear USA Representative:

On June 29th, you aired a commercial during the program, "Law and Order" promoting your program "Suits". The commercial aired between 9:00 p.m. and 10 p.m. The commercial featured dialogue between the two co-stars including the phrase, "That's what g_{d} loyalty is!" This broadcast was recorded on videotape.

This misuse of God's name is extremely offensive to us. We don't watch television programs that use God's name in vain so we don't want to be exposed to this type of profanity during commercials aired at any time.

Please be sensitive to those who enjoy programming on the USA Network by establishing a policy that respects your viewers' feelings. In addition, children who watch television later in the evening during the summer months don't need to be exposed to this type of language. It's the right thing to do!

RE(GN Docket No. 13-86

Gentlemen,

I respectfully request that you do not relax decency rules. In fact they should be made a little stronger to include, for example, the word "piss", etc., from being said over the air.

What is happening in this country of ours, supposedly the greatest country in the world and we are to be a world leader. And we are now leading the world away from one of the most important foundations that this country is based - IN GOD WE TRUST. We are turning away from God rapidly and other countries are following. God's law of marriage has just been kicked out, and England has just followed. This is just one example.

You have the capability of helping to bring IN GOD WE TRUST back into existance by stopping ALL indecency, both vocal and visual, over the airways. You may even have some influence over publications (books, newspapers, etc)

Respectfully,

Jack Tilghman
